

Models for Community Policing: A Panel Discussion

Join this important conversation and help Falcon Heights set a new direction in policing.

Thursday, Sept. 29 at 7:30 p.m.

Falcon Heights Church, United Church of Christ, 1795 Holton St.

- For residents of Falcon Heights and neighboring communities.
- Panel will discuss the President's Task Force on 21st Century Policing, racial equity, police training, policing models, and residents' roles in improving policing.
- This conversation will help inform the work of a proposed Falcon Heights citizen's work group on community policing.

Panel

Melvin Carter Jr., retired St. Paul police sergeant, and founder of Save Our Sons (SOS), an organization that works with at-risk African-American young men

Mindy Greiling, former member of the Minnesota House of Representatives, presenting findings from the Roseville League of Women Voters study on policing in Falcon Heights and neighboring suburbs

Teresa Nelson, legal director, American Civil Liberties Union of Minnesota (ACLU)

Jeffrey Martin, president, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), St. Paul

Moderator

Sarah Greenman, assistant professor of Criminology and Criminal Justice, Hamline University; and Falcon Heights resident

Childcare and light refreshments provided

This event organized by Falcon Heights residents.

Falcon Heights We Can Do Better, fh.wecandobetter@gmail.com